Description

The Ministry of Education and Culture anticipates that the corona outbreak will not end until the end of the year, where schools are not able to do their normal activities. This situation may cause the extension of learning from home for students. There are many disadvantaged children from underprivileged families who cannot learn effectively from home due to the lack of supporting facilities. Not all students are set up for online learning and those who are poor are less likely to have access to the key tools and experiences they need to attend school online, so they need learning tools and educational games during the quarantine period. Let's help them to be able to continue studying at home through Yayasan Bahtera DwipaAbadi.
